CAR RENTAL

Bratislava offers the possibility to rent a car through international companies such as Hertz, Avis, Sixt or Europcar. Their branches can usually be found in large hotels or at the airport. In the city, however, you will find local car rental companies that offer similarly quality services at comprehensive prices.

PARKING

On the main streets of the city centre there are signboards indicating the current number of parking vacancies in underground car parks or parking lots. Parking on the streets in the centre is charged. Parking charges can be paid by SMS or by purchasing a card in the parking machine. Payment is due on business days from 8:00 to 16:00.

TAXI

It is preferable to book a taxi by phone rather than use the services of a fixed stand, or stop a cab on the street. The minimum fare for short distances is around 5 EUR. We recommend checking the price before boarding the vehicle. Every taxi vehicle must have the price list installed in a visible place and use a taxi-meter. It is advantageous to order a taxi through the HOPIN application.

ON FOOT OR BY BICYCLE

The advantage of Bratislava is the compactness of the city centre, so most of its key attractions can be reached on foot. The latest city innovation is bike sharing - a shared system of stations with yellow bicycles.

Bratislava belongs to the group of smaller capital cities with a charming and compact centre, where you can find the most popular sights within walking distance. Historic buildings are a testimony to its glorious ancient history and coexist with modern architecture and the benefits of the modern world.

Marvellous panoramas

The charm of the city and its dominant buildings is best seen as a bird's eye view from the tops of the neighbouring hills, lookout terraces and towers of historic buildings. An alternative view of the city also opens up from the deck of a boat cruising the Danube River.

Along the Danube riverbank

Bratislava is often called the Beauty on the Danube. This European river giant is a refreshing part of the city centre. The promenade on both banks is good for pleasant walks, jogging or a relaxing seat in a cafe or on the lawns with romantic river views.

On the Danube

Sightseeing cruises under the Bratislava bridges are a good choice for a comfortable tour of Bratislava's main landmarks from a slightly different perspective. Devín Castle proudly towering over the confluence of the Danube and Morava rivers is also accessible by the river. In the high season there are boat trips to Čunovo, to the Museum of Modern Art - a compelling gallery on the Danube peninsula. The Danube also connects Bratislava with Austria and Hungary, tourists especially enjoy the regular return cruises between Vienna and Bratislava. It is possible to rent vessels for special cruises, family, corporate and social events to enjoy exceptional moments with extraordinary panoramic views.

City from above

The highest point of Bratislava is the Devínska Kobyla hill at 514 metres above sea level. The tallest building in Bratislava is the Kamzik TV Tower, which rises to a height of almost 200 metres on the Kamzik Hill (439 metres above sea level) in the Koliba forest park. Its attraction is the rotating restaurant in the tower which offers a 360 degrees panoramic view. There is a smaller but more natural alternative to enjoy the most beautiful sights of Bratislava from a wooden lookout tower on a nearby meadow called American Square. Closer to the city at a height of 52 metres is the largest war memorial in Central Europe, where you can see the city in the palm of your hand. The most popular sightseeing place in the historical centre is the courtyard of Bratislava Castle. During a tour of the Old Town we recommend you to overcome your fear of heights or laziness and climb the stairs of the Old Town Hall tower and Michael's Tower, from where you can enjoy wonderful views of the streets and squares, colourful roofs and dominant landmarks. The unlimited horizon also opens up from the high cliff where the Devin ruins soar at the confluence of the Danube and Morava rivers.

UFO on the Danube

The lookout tower with a restaurant on a Danube bridge resembling a UFO is one of the symbols of the capital city. The UFO tower is 95 m high and offers visitors views over the neighbouring countryside within a 100 km radius.

The building fully captures its “iconic” status as a symbol and dominant feature of the capital and is an integral part of its unique skyline. It only takes 45 seconds in the high speed lift to get a diametrically different and attractive view of the city on the Danube and its surroundings. At a height of 95 metres above ground level and a visibility of more than 100 km a perfect panorama opens up in front of you and an unforgettable experience begins. The lookout tower, bar and restaurant are located at the very top of the SNP Bridge columns. The bridge itself is a minimalist and efficient design.

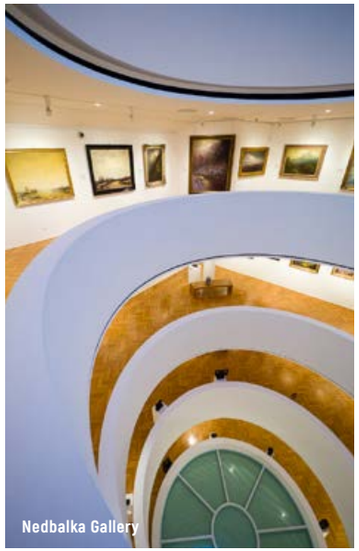
From fossils to modern art

The treasures of the town's history and unique thematic collections are exhibited in almost 40 museums and art works of various formats and styles are provided by twenty galleries. Many of them are based in historical palaces in Bratislava's historical centre.



Nedbalka Gallery

Exposed past

You can trace the city's past in the City History Museum at the Old Town Hall and in the nearby Apponyi Palace where the Museum of Historic Interiors is based. Fans of the ancient excavations will come into their own at the Archaeological Museum under the castle or in Rusovce, where the remains of a Roman military camp can be seen. Museum Ancient Gerulata as part of "Limes Romanus", awaits inclusion in the UNESCO World Heritage register. The multiculturalism of Bratislava is also presented by museums of culture of ethnic groups - Carpathian Germans, Hungarians, Croats and Jews.

To the castle!

Exhibitions at Bratislava Castle show the history of the territory of Slovakia. Descend into the cellars and admire artefacts in the treasury or climb up to the Coronation Tower, where the Crown Jewels were once stored. Another castle is only 20 minutes away from the centre. Devin Castle is a ruin after destruction by Napoleonic troops, situated on a high rock above the confluence of two rivers. You can also have an excursion into the countryside to Červený Kameň Castle, where you can admire the aristocracy's residential architecture and the largest historical cellars in Central Europe.

Collections for all interests

Specialized thematic museums offer interesting exhibitions. The clock collection is housed in a narrow Rococo house. Weapons are displayed in Michael´s Tower. On the list there are also exhibits of the Museum of Pharmacy, Natural History Museum or the collection of veteran vehicles at the Museum of Transport. Fans of military history are welcomed in army bunkers, wine enthusiasts can enjoy wine-tasting at the Museum of Viticulture at the Apponyi Palace or admire the largest collection of wine presses on the continent at the Small Carpathian Museum in Pezinok.

Ancient Gerulata Rusovce

Mirbach Palace

Colours and forms

The rich collections of art from Gothic to contemporary creations are presented in galleries. A pleasant café in the Slovak National Gallery in Esterházy Palace makes the artistic experience even more agreeable. The Bratislava City Gallery exhibits its treasures at the Mirbach and Pálffy Palaces. The greatest attraction of the Primate's Palace is a collection of six 17th-century English tapestries depicting an ancient mythological theme. The interior of the Nedbalka Gallery resembles the Guggenheim Museum in New York and the ÚĽUV Gallery provides space for artefacts of traditional crafts and folk-art design.

Art on the waterline
The Danube Peninsula in Čunovo offers a symbiosis of art works and natural scenery at the Museum of Modern Art Danubiana.

The illusion of infinity
If you want to find yourself in infinity, take a walk through the passage of Matej Krén created by a combination of books and mirrors in Pálffy Palace.

On the wings of music

In the past, the city hosted several music giants. To commemorate them there are plaques on the walls of palaces. The city is full of cultural events throughout the year, which you can enjoy in the historic interiors of the theatre and the philharmonic, but also right in the city streets.

Visits of musical geniuses

Compositions by famous representatives of classical music were played in the houses of the Bratislava aristocrats, sometimes even by the composers themselves. In 1762 the six-year-old W. A. Mozart played a concerto on Ventúrska Street and Franz Liszt performed where the University Library is based today. Ludwig van Beethoven also visited Bratislava. Joseph Haydn performed as a conductor for Count Nicholas I. Esterházy in his palace on Kapitulská Street and in 1772 he also conducted the orchestra at a ball in the Grassalkovich Palace on the occasion of the marriage of Maria Christina, daughter of Maria Theresa.

Museum from a family house

Music composer, pianist and conductor Johann Nepomuk Hummel was born in Bratislava and is author of several operas, piano concertos and masses. He received basic music education from W. A. Mozart, cooperated with J. Haydn and was a concert master in the orchestra of Count M. Esterházy. Russian pianist and composer Anton Rubinstein played a memorable concert in Bratislava and the profits were used to build a J. N. Hummel memorial. In the Renaissance garden house on Klobučnícka Street where Hummel was born in 1778, a museum was established, where you can find fragments of his musical notation and a collection of musical instruments.

Exceptional art in spectacular space

High-quality performances, magic melodies, world-class performers and a rich repertoire also deserve exceptional spaces. The historical building of the Slovak National Theatre and Reduta, the home of the Slovak Philharmonic, is a landmark in Hviezdoslav Square. The new building of the Slovak National Theatre on the Danube embankment is also a remarkable architectural work, but of a modern look. Choose from opera, ballet, drama and classical music concerts and combine an artistic experience with a tour of the interior.

Festivals of different genres

Every musical genre can be found at the Bratislava´s music festivals. These events are held regularly every year and have an international flavour. For enthusiasts of the classics we recommend first-class events such as Bratislava Music Festival, Convergences, Viva Musica!, Bratislava Jazz Days, whilst for followers of other music styles there is Uprising reggae, World Music Festival, Advent and Christmas Music Festival, and there are also guitar, organ, choir and folklore festivals.

Three months of culture

The Cultural Summer and Castle Festival Bratislava is a series of multi-genre programs for various interests in the streets of the city. The biggest summer cultural festival of the capital, full of concerts and performances.

City Forests in Bratislava

Sandberg

Forest in the city

From the city it is just a short leap into the forest. The Horský Park with its original forest environment boasts a 130-year-old gamekeeper's lodge. A popular leisure location is the Bratislava forest park with a TV Tower on the top of Kamzík hill, which offers a panoramic view from its rotating restaurant. A chair lift operates between the stations of Kamzík and Železná Studnička. A goal of family trips is a bob-sleigh route with near rope park and lovers of natural romance will enjoy two tree-top houses. The protected landscape areas around Devínska Kobyla and Small Carpathians (Malé Karpaty) create ideal conditions for organized bird-watching and observation of flora and fauna. The Sandberg site of fossils of prehistoric marine life is also very unique.

Parks with a hint of history

The city centre is refreshed by parks whose history dates back to the 18th century. You can spend pleasant time in the city park Sad J. Kráľa - the oldest public park in Central Europe, or in the park Medická záhrada or Botanical Garden. An interesting feature of the Grassalkovich Garden at the Presidential Palace is an avenue of trees planted by heads of state during visits to Slovakia. The baroque garden in the castle was reconstructed according to plans from the reign of Maria Theresa.

Up the tempo!

The green city zones are popular locations for enthusiasts of jogging or running. Take a Go! running city tour or choose from marathons.

On two wheels

Get to know the city by bicycle, take an organized bike tour or rent a yellow city bike. From the city centre you can connect with two international cycling routes - the Danube (Eurovelo 6) and the Iron Curtain Cycle Route (Eurovelo 13), which run along the rivers Danube and Morava towards Austria or Hungary. Devín Castle and the Danubiana Museum in Čunovo can also be reached by bicycle. For nature lovers we recommend cycling trips in the Small Carpathian Mountains and adrenaline fans can try the downhill track in the Bratislava forest park.

Relax by the water

During the hot days the lakes are the right places to cool down and enjoy water sports. You can try speedboats, scooters, surfing, water skis, and hydrospeed on several water areas. The recreation area Golden Sands (Zlaté piesky) also offers adrenaline wakeboarding and flyboard. The natural beauty of the Danube river and its dead channels also attract rowers.

Selection of varied tastes

Bratislava has always been a crossroads of different nations. The variety of flavours in Bratislava cuisine is a result of the different ingredients and methods of preparing meals from the time of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, mixed with traditional Slovak dishes. The city's culinary experience is further enriched by the wide range of specialties from other parts of the world.

From street-food to a decent dinner with panoramic view

Bratislava offers a wide range of eateries where you can satisfy your hunger, taste the local specialties and spend time in pleasant company. Whether you stop for a snack in a street-food kiosk or enjoy a full-course menu at a fancy restaurant with international cuisine, there is always plenty of options. Have a lunch break in the historical city centre or on the Danube embankment, just a short leap from the interesting tourist sights. Experience tasty dinner with a romantic panoramic view at the UFO tower located on the top of SNP (Slovak National Uprising) bridge or the popular rotating restaurant at Kamzík TV Tower. Traditional Slovak and local "Prešporok" dishes are to be found on the menu of every good restaurant and many of these are well-known for beer from their own micro-breweries.

Taste the city

The basic ingredients of traditional Slovak cuisine, influenced by a shepherd culture, are potatoes, cabbage and sheep's cheese. Once in Slovakia, you should try original potato gnocchi with "bryndza" (sheep's cheese), pickled sliced cabbage, potato pancakes, cheese-filled dumplings, bean or a cabbage soup, pork rind biscuits "pagáče" and sweet strudels. The closeness of the river Danube and Hungarian influence is notable in the type of fish dishes whilst you can also order Hungarian goulash or "perkelt" with dumplings. Alternatively, beef sirloin with dumplings and other delicious Czech specialities taste best with a good beer. In addition, there are plenty of places offering Italian or Asian specialties.

Rolls with protected recipe

The most famous speciality and a favourite souvenir from Bratislava is the original Bratislava Roll. In the past, they were even regularly supplied to the Imperial Court in Vienna. Today the European Union has designated them a protected traditional product. They are exclusively handmade according to a prescribed formula without any chemical additives and the surface must be glossy and 'marbled'. There are two kinds of this sweet delicacy - C-shaped with walnut filling or horseshoe-shaped with poppy-seed filling.

The land of goose delicacies
An unforgettable gourmet experience in the Bratislava region is crispy roasted goose or duck with thin potato pancakes "lokša" and stewed cabbage or delicious foie gras served with "lokša" potato pancakes. The goose (or duck) feast season is in the autumn during the grape harvest festivals, however some restaurants offer this exceptional specialty throughout the year.

Sweet pleasure with the scent of coffee

The long history of cafes in the city is reflected in the number of cafes and pastry shops, where you can sit, rest and enjoy the original Bratislava rolls, strudels or desserts with a good cup of coffee. Try a healthy raw cake, genuine ice cream with unconventional flavours or have your own "selfiecino" – coffee with your own portrait.

Party after dark

Bratislava is a city that lives to the fullest even after sunset. During summer time the restaurant terraces invite you for long friendly discussion and entertainment is assured in the wide range of music clubs, bars and discos.

Events full of flavour

Various types of gastro-festival, spiced up with cultural programmes are the best introduction to local cuisine and seasonal specialties. They occur in all seasons: Winter Food Festival and Christmas Market, Easter Markets in Spring, Gurman Fest, Slovak Food Festival and the traditional goose feast season in Autumn.

BRATISLAVA

Liquid treasures

Good food also deserves tasty beer or delicious wine. Bratislava is part of the Small Carpathian Wine Region and so in restaurants, wine shops, wine bars and cellars you are also likely to find a selection of wines from local producers. Beer and wine festivals are organized right in the city centre, but it is worthwhile to discover the city surroundings and enjoy wine tasting and wine events throughout entire Small Carpathian region.

Beer

In the city you can choose from several brewery restaurants with their own beer production prepared to the traditional "Prešporok" recipe. In addition to well-known beer brands there is also a boom of small craft breweries that bring unconventional tastes to the beer market. In restaurants, pubs and beer houses there is a wide selection of beer based on its origin, production process, colour and taste. Micro-breweries present their products for public tasting during specialized events. Dozens of craft breweries and hundreds of types of beer accompanied by street food and entertainment is awaiting the visitors to the Craft Beer Festival - Beer Salon or at Bratislava Oktoberfest.

A land of delicious wines

The largest viniculture region of Slovakia is located in the vicinity of Bratislava, where grape growing on the hills of the Small Carpathians has a long tradition. White wines such as Grüner Veltliner, Riesling, Chardonnay or the local varieties Devín and Pálava flourish here. Typical red varieties are Frankovka Modrá (Blue Lemberger), Cabernet Sauvignon, Alibernet, Dunaj and Modrý Portugal. The high quality of wines from the Small Carpathian wine region is demonstrated by the number of international awards achieved in world-wide prestigious wine competitions. The Small Carpathian Wine Route joins together local winemakers and service providers offering an annual programme of events related to viticulture, wine making and wine tasting.

City of Frankovka

In addition to the traditional viniculture towns of the region, such as Pezinok, Modra and Svätý Jur, it should not be forgotten that the capital city has vineyards and wine cellars in its suburbs. The Bratislava city district of Rača is famous for its red Blaufränkisch wine, so called Račianska Frankovka. This wine was a favourite drink of the Empress Maria Theresa and could never be left off her table.

Wine celebration

The biggest celebrations of the wine season are the harvesting festivities including wine craft demonstrations, allegorical parades, folk festivals and local wine tasting which are held during September in the towns of Pezinok, Modra and district of Rača. More winemaking events are: Feast of Young Wine on St. Martin's Days, Open Wine Cellars, Wine and Lavender, A Day in the Vineyards, Ríbezľový Devín – Currant Fruit Wine Festival, Wandering around Bratislava Wine Cellars, Excursion to Rača´s Wine Cellars

The Story of wine
The largest collection of wine presses in Europe is situated in the Small Carpathian Museum in Pezinok where you can also test your sense of smell in Aromabar.

Top 100 Slovak wines
You can learn more about the history of the city's vineyards and wine production at the Museum of Viticulture located in the Apponyi Palace. It also includes the National Collection of Wines where you can taste the 100 best Slovak wines.

Devín's currant fruit wine
The speciality of the Devín district is the local currant wine made from black and red currants and called Devínsky ríbezlák.

Shopping

There is nothing that makes your day better than a proper shopping spree: a little something to treat yourself, something as a memory and something as a gift. A souvenir from Bratislava can be a fashion brand from the modern shopping centres, handicraft products from a cosy shop or local gastronomic products from the market.

Old Market Hall

All under one roof

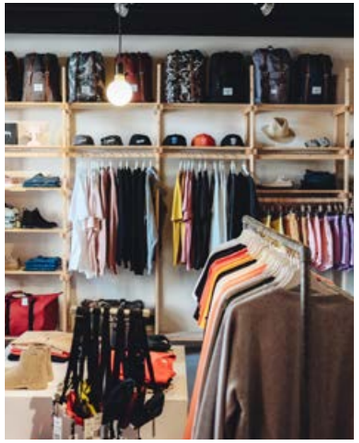
Bratislava has shopping centres that are open until late evening hours, seven days a week, where you can shop in all kinds of weather. An important part of shopping is a break for a coffee with a cake or an even longer stop to satisfy your thirst and hunger. The shops are closed during Slovak public holidays.

Get yourself original gifts

While strolling through the streets of the city you may come across several small shops that do not offer usual kinds of goods, but mainly focus on authenticity, local ingredients, traditions and ideas. Also attractive are the fashion showrooms where you can find unique fashion and design pieces from local creative designers. Works of art and historical treasures can be found in antique shops while traditional folk culture products are available in specialized folk art shops. The products made by talented local craftsmen are an original souvenir from your visit. Besides a magnet or a T-shirt you can also purchase wooden or ceramic toys or gifts, corn dollies, a pack of Bratislava rolls, a bottle of Devin currant fruit wine or delicious wine from the Small Carpathian Wine Region.

Farmers' delicacies

Fresh farm products from the region, quality homemade food or handicraft goods can be found on the markets. Have a walk around the open-air market "Miletička" or the indoor Fresh Market, visit the regular Saturday markets in the Old Market Hall or amuse yourself at the more casual Good Market – "Dobrý trh".



Painted beauty

Typical souvenirs from the Bratislava region are Modra ceramics from potteries dating back to the first half of the 17th century. Traditional ornaments and bright colours have made the majolica of Modra famous beyond the borders of Slovakia. In some small potteries you can also test your skills in some of the production areas.

Accommodation tips

Bratislava currently has more than 120 accommodation facilities, from which each visitor or tour operator can choose according to their desired standard, price level, facilities, services, location or view.

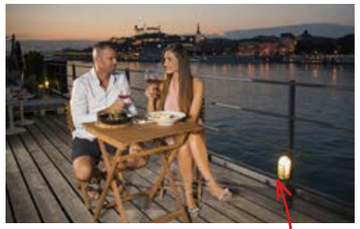
More than just overnight stay

Getting to know the ancient history and modern face of the city, tasting the local delicacies and exploring the range of tourist possibilities takes some time. Therefore, it is wise to extend your trip and stay overnight in the city centre or in a quite part of town in a luxury chain-brand hotel; friendly small hotel or guesthouse; hostel; in a renovated historic house or in a newly built modern building. The selection of accommodation facilities is wide. Many of them offer great cuisine in their own restaurant and some of them also operate wellness areas. Most of the hotels will, on demand, prepare special accommodation packages, provide group discounts and reliably arrange various additional services.

International standards with local charm

This modern and charming city was discovered by the prestigious hotel brands such as Marriott, Radisson Hotel Group, IHG, Accor, Hilton Worldwide, Falkensteiner Hotels & Residences, Lindner, NH Hotels or Vienna House. Bratislava's five- and four-star hotels can organise small meetings or grand events and rent out their conference facilities with full technical equipment and related services.

Book your accommodation directly with the hotels, get advice from the tourist information centre, use the services of local tourist specialists, travel agencies and tour operators or choose from online reservation and information portals.



On the waves of the Danube

Experience exceptional, atypical, romantic and adventurous accommodation in botels moored on the Danube right in the city centre. Be enchanted by the view and fall asleep to the lapping of the waves.

Leave it to the specialists!

Local knowledge, proven contacts with service providers, years of experience, tailor-made professional approach, up-to-date information and secret news are the benefits of working with tourist information centres, guides, local service providers, tour operators and agencies.

Information is the key

Do you want to do-it-yourself in discovering the tourist sights and attractions in the city or adjacent area or are you looking for practical information or guidance? The experienced and skilful team at the Tourist Information Centre will be pleased to advise you in several languages, provide free promotional materials and book city tours. A permanent information service can be found in the city centre at the Primate's Palace, the Main Railway Station and in Devínska Nová Ves near the cycling bridge. During summer the information network is extended by seasonal info points at transport hubs (airport, port, bus station) and pedestrian zones. Touch information panels are available year-round in busy places (airport, railway station, castle).

With a guide you discover more

If you want to see everything important, you are interested in local rarities or stories, looking for hidden corners, or if you want to focus on a specific topic, then contact professional local guides. Tours covering different topics and in different languages can be booked through the Tourist Information Centre or through travel guide associations.

We advise, equip, order...

You just decide when and we take care of everything else. Feel free to contact local operators who will prepare a full programme for you, order services and ensure a trouble-free stay. They can tailor offers for individual visitors or organised groups, enhance family trips, organise corporate events and thematic stays, and handle any specific requirements.
